

The Lost Art Lacers will be hosting TWO teachers this fall.

ABOUT THE TEACHERS

KUMIKO NAKAZAKI is coming back to New Jersey in September to teach another workshop for lacemakers. Kumiko is an internationally well-known lace designer and teacher who has taught extensively in Europe, Japan, and the United States. She studied under Anne-Marie Verbeke-Billiet at the Kantcentrum (Lace Center) in Bruges, Belgium. Kumiko has published at least ten sizeable pattern folders of her original designs and she frequently designs patterns for the Kant magazine published by the Kantcentrum. Kumiko was here last year and we are privileged to have her return this September.

JOSÉE POUPART is coming to New Jersey in October for the first time from Halifax, Nova Scotia. Josée started learning how to make bobbin lace in 1990, and very quickly, she realized that leaves and tallies add a very unique and wonderful texture to lace. So she made (and continues to make) a lot of leaves. She will also be teaching wire lace. In terms of her wire work, Josée says she was introduced to wire lace by Lenka Suchanek and was quickly hooked. "Making lace from wire allows me the possibilities of making unique, yet simple pieces of jewelry. Since it is the only type of lace that I wear, wire lace techniques have become even more special."
